Overview of ACT

ACT is a highly coordinated set of services offered by a multidisciplinary team to meet the complex needs of individuals with severe and persistent mental illnesses.

A fundamental charge of ACT is to be the first line (and generally sole provider) of all the services that an individual receiving ACT needs.

ACT is consumer-centered and recovery-oriented and has received substantial empirical support for facilitating community living, psychosocial rehabilitation and recovery.

The ACT team is mobile and primarily delivers services in community locations to enable each individual to identify and live in their own residence and to find and maintain work in community.

The ACT Team operates either directly or on-call 24 hours per day, seven days per week.

This format is ideally suited for those individuals who demonstrate a clinical necessity for a high level of supportive care, and would not be able to maintain their mental health stability and/or be capable of stopping their illicit substance use otherwise, or at a lesser level of care.

ACT Team

An ACT team provides person-centered services addressing an individual's needs and is oriented around individual's personal goals.

An ACT Treatment Team consist of:

- Psychiatric Nurses who administer medication, provide basic medical assessments, health education, and health care coordination;

- Peer Specialist who are or were receiving mental health services and can provide essential first-hand knowledge to the team and support to the individual's recovery goals;
